„Altes Brauhaus“

THE “ALTE BRAUHAUS” – 50 YEARS OF KOBLENZ HISTORY

After its foundation in 1689, the Altes Brauhaus or “Old Brewery” at Koblenz began brewing a fine beer on the premises of the former Rathaus Monreal. From then on the Altes Brauhaus became widely known and appreciated for its excellent beers and earned a reputation for convivial hospitality. This brewing tradition laid the foundations for the Königsbacher brewery which was established in 1885. Its founder, Josef Tillmann, built the new brewery on the Königsbach stream near the Rhine where the “Königsbacher” still stands today.

Here is an amusing historical anecdote – an official proclamation from the 19th century:

*“The mayor hereby gives notice:
Beer will be brewed on Wednesday. For this reason no-one may shit in the stream from Tuesday onwards.”*

With its old brewing tradition, the “Königsbacher” – the region’s premier brewery – has always combined tradition with innovation. In 1974 they were the first German brewers to install a fully automatic KEG barrel-filling line. Since 1992 the “Königsbacher” has been part of the beverage and service group Karlsberg Brauerei KG Weber.

The Alte Brauerei reopened in 2003 following 2 years of elaborate refurbishment and restoration work. The aim was to achieve something of the old ‘brewhouse’ character, and when one compares the result with the old photos and paintings, this goal appears to have been admirably accomplished.
